

Welcome to Graz!

▪ How to get around

General Information

Graz has a well - developed public transport system. 6 tram lines and 24 bus lines will help you get around quickly. Bus and tram lines operate between 5 am and midnight, within 5 to 20 minute intervals.

The main train station (Hauptbahnhof) and the Jakominiplatz (in the city centre) are the main public transportation hubs in Graz. All trams and many bus lines stop at Jakominiplatz. The last trams leave there around 23.30.

Tickets and prices

Tickets are valid for all bus and tram lines in the 101 fare zone (Graz plus immediate surroundings, including the airport). You can choose between a 1h- (2,20€) or 24h- ticket (5,00€). They are available at the ticket machines located in every tram as well as at the central station, Hauptplatz and Jakominiplatz. In the bus, you can buy tickets from the driver (but only 1h and 24 h tickets); please make sure to have small change for the payment. Tickets need to be validated when you get into the bus or tram at the small orange boxes.

There is also the option of a 3-day-ticket (for 11,80 €), which is valid for three days from the time of validation on all public transport in Graz.

• Restaurants in Graz

Lendplatzl: This eatery offers predominantly Styrian food made from local products. A highlight: the beautiful beer garden, Lendpl., 11

Herzl Weinstube: Also recommendable for Austrian cuisine and very well located in the city center, Prokopigasse, 12

Die Scherbe: Restaurant-café-bar in the heart of Graz. Mon-Fri 09:00–01:00, Stockergasse 2

Don Camillo e Peppone: The southern Flair of Franziskanerplatz is best enjoyed at one of the Italian restaurants there. The variety is large, the pizza excellent. Table bookings are recommended, Franziskanerplatz 11

Vegan cuisine

Cafe Erde: Sometimes there is also live music. On those days you might need to reserve a table in advance, because it can get very crowded, Andreas-Hofer-Platz 3

Ginko: Vegan restaurant with gluten-free options, Grazbachgasse 33
